

As it happened many times for me, but now it's gone little depth.
"(mumbling)What happened to me, am I not capable of this or am I not dare enough to face this".

I started walking on street though I had enough money for bus, still I don't want to take anything, I lost everything.
"(mumbling) I don't want to live like this, no I have to face everything, no I don't want this any more and I'll leave the company, I'll resign I can't face this".

I kept walking, I don't know I have already miles away from my company. And I kept mumbling those same questions.....
Just I started to remember what happened today in the company(need to be developed).

It's already 9 pm, I left office at 7 and time is ticking as well as my heart.Till now, I didn't have any sense about what is happening around me. I didn't see anything from past hour. Now I started to see what is happening around me.
Oh! The bar is still open with full of people, Hotels are still open. It's already 9:15 what people are still doing here. The egg rice shop is still open and nearly 20 people are eating around it, few are just coming from the office and enjoying their dinner on the road, I kept walking....

Few women are still standing on the street looking for something. Gays are asking money from people, who stopped by traffic signals.

One girl also walking on same street where I'm walking, She is just few feet away from Me, I'm walking just behind her. She turned back and looked at me for few seconds! With fear in her face and kept walking. I just ignored her, after few minutes she again looked at me with same fear. It happened for three, four times, Oh! Maybe she scared by thinking I was following her. I stopped myself and let her go.

As I still mumbling those questions, and I saw a young boy with dirty clothes and a hunger face full of fear, selling a national flag. Oh! Tomorrow is 15th August. I wanted to talk with him so that I have to buy one flag, I called the boy..

"What is the price," I asked with a smile.
"50rs per one" he replied with little doubt whether I'll buy it or not I knew he has some story, I wanted to know about the poor little guy
"Don't worry, I'll buy two if you answer my questions" I asked with a gentle smile.